Neegaan Inabin Looking Forward

Culturally-appropriate, holistic services for achieving your goals and securing your future into early adulthood.

Starting out on your own as a young adult can be a scary, overwhelming, and lonely experience. At the same time, it can also be a time full of potential and growth.

We want to give you the tools to thrive as you begin looking forward to your goals and your future.

Our approach is culturally-appropriate, holistic and youth-centred, and encourages the involvement of all who have a vested interest in your potential.

What is Neegaan Inabin?

Neegaan Inabin, which means “Looking Forward” in Oji-Cree, provides culturally-appropriate, holistic services supporting youth aging out of care and young adults formerly in care (up to 26) from Tikingan’s 30 First Nations.

What we offer

Neegaan Inabin provides you with culturally-appropriate, holistic services to support your transition into early adulthood. We will help you navigate resources you need to succeed by connecting you with existing supports within your communities. We promote safety, security, and stability to develop necessary life skills for you to achieve independence and build your future. Our program is easy to access and prioritizes your self-identified best interests.

Who can access it

The Neegaan Inabin program supports youth currently or formerly in the care of Tikingan Child & Family Services. Planning begins as early as your 17th birthday and services are available throughout your transition into young adulthood up to your 26th birthday. The Neegaan Inabin program is voluntary and does not require any legal status or commitment.
